Q3 2026 earnings report

Prepared for the board, 30 October 2026

Summary

Revenue reached $1.19B, up 11.7% year over year. Growth came mostly from Cloud (+20.9%) and Services (+12.4%), while Hardware stayed flat. Gross margin improved to 61.8% (+1.2pp) and Q4 guidance was raised to 9-11% growth.

Segment	Q3 2025	Q3 2026	Change
Cloud	$412M	$498M	+20.9%
Services	$233M	$262M	+12.4%
Hardware	$301M	$303M	+0.7%
Licensing	$118M	$126M	+6.8%
Total	$1064M	$1189M	+11.7%

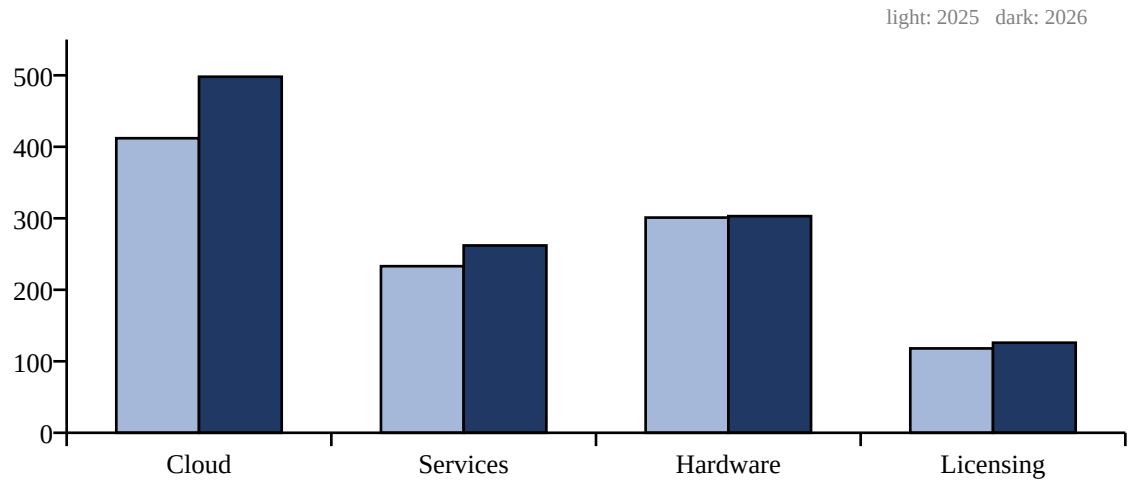
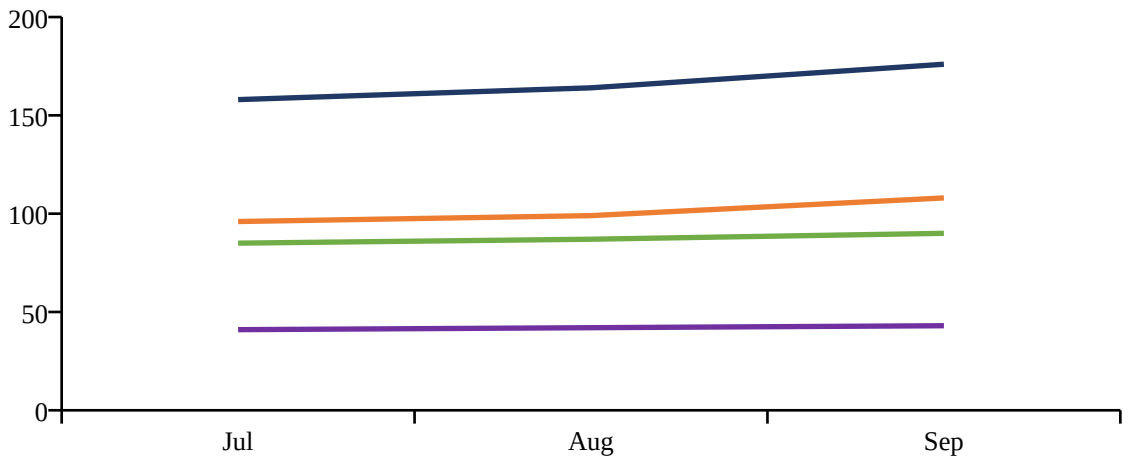
Revenue by segment ($M)



Monthly trend

Each month of the quarter grew on the one before, led by Cloud in September.



Risks to watch

- Pricing pressure in EMEA. Two large renewals moved to multi-year terms at lower rates.
- SMB churn. Logo churn rose to 2.9% a month; the self-serve onboarding fix ships in Q4.
- Hardware supply. Constraints eased in September but lead times remain above plan.

Appendix: methodology

Segment revenue is recognised under the company's standard policy. Figures are rounded to the nearest million and may not add up exactly. Year-over-year changes compare against the same quarter of the previous fiscal year, restated for the reorganisation of the Services segment. (Paragraph 1 of 6, to give the viewer a third page to scroll to.)

Segment revenue is recognised under the company's standard policy. Figures are rounded to the nearest million and may not add up exactly. Year-over-year changes compare against the same quarter of the previous fiscal year, restated for the reorganisation of the Services segment. (Paragraph 2 of 6, to give the viewer a third page to scroll to.)

Segment revenue is recognised under the company's standard policy. Figures are rounded to the nearest million and may not add up exactly. Year-over-year changes compare against the same quarter of the previous fiscal year, restated for the reorganisation of the Services segment. (Paragraph 3 of 6, to give the viewer a third page to scroll to.)

Segment revenue is recognised under the company's standard policy. Figures are rounded to the nearest million and may not add up exactly. Year-over-year changes compare against the same quarter of the previous fiscal year, restated for the reorganisation of the Services segment. (Paragraph 4 of 6, to give the viewer a third page to scroll to.)

Segment revenue is recognised under the company's standard policy. Figures are rounded to the nearest million and may not add up exactly. Year-over-year changes compare against the same quarter of the previous fiscal year, restated for the reorganisation of the Services segment. (Paragraph 5 of 6, to give the viewer a third page to scroll to.)

Segment revenue is recognised under the company's standard policy. Figures are rounded to the nearest million and may not add up exactly. Year-over-year changes compare against the same quarter of the previous fiscal year, restated for the reorganisation of the Services segment. (Paragraph 6 of 6, to give the viewer a third page to scroll to.)